

We highly recommend Dennis Roesle and Roesle Sports Consulting for any high school athlete who aspires to play at a collegiate level. Entering into the recruiting process is both overwhelming and stressful. We could not imagine going through this process without his personal help. From the beginning Dennis sat down with us in our home and discussed with our daughter what it was she was looking for in not only her softball future but her academic future as well. He asked her several questions regarding her commitment to softball and her studies while in college so that he could get a idea of what would be best for her. Dennis honestly cares about his athletes and their success both on and off the field. He also taught our daughter how to write a proper email and letter to potential coaches. She wrote the emails and letters herself, but he guided her in presentation and format. Dennis created her a recruiting profile so that we could handout her recruiting information at exposure tournaments or email as an attachment to college coaches. He also shot a recruiting video of her to send out to college coaches. This video highlighted her hitting and fielding abilities.

The video also had her speaking directly to the camera describing herself to a potential college coach. Most importantly, Dennis himself came to tournaments and personally spoke to coaches about her and asked coaches to watch her play. He does this for all his clients. Unlike many recruiting companies that make promises, Dennis delivers and is personally involved. When he can he will even come to signing day to witness his clients dream come true. Dennis Roesle will take you from beginning to end and guide you along the way. He will answer his phone anytime and come see you in person when he can. It is up to you to do the work both on the field and in the classroom and it is up to you to send out the emails and letters. Our daughter did the work, put in the time and with the help of Roesle Sports Consulting made her dream of playing college softball come true. It was the best money we ever spent in softball in fact we thought it was a great value! We all know the expense of playing sports and the fee paid to Roesle Sports Consulting was a bargain in comparison of competing in a travel sport! We can not express enough how happy we are with Dennis. We and our daughter will be forever grateful for his services and helping her realize her dream of playing college softball.
